Support for older people to access aged care and other community services.

Community information

Do you or someone you know need extra help to navigate aged care or community services?

The care finder service is not suitable for everyone. Are you 65 years or older, or an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander person aged 50 or over and require individual and intensive help; then the care finder program may be right for you. Care finder services are free.

The support provided, can include:

- ✓ meeting you at home or in a place of your choice,
- ✓ helping you understand what aged care services are available,
- ✓ talking to My Aged Care and other community services with you,
- ✓ assisting completion of relevant forms,
- ✓ supporting you if you are homeless or experiencing housing insecurity,
- ✓ finding and connecting you to services as they are available,
- ✓ checking in regularly to make sure everything is okay.
